

NORWEGIANS HAIL A LOYAL OFFICIAL

Large demonstrations have taken place at Leikanger on the west coast of Norway, following the dismissal of district governor Hans Kristian Seip by the Nazis, it was learned here today. Hundreds of men and women gathered in front of Seip's house, and the mayor of Leikanger thanked the ex-governor for his excellent work. Seip appeared on the balcony deeply moved and expressed his gratitude for those present. In response, the crowd shouted approval of his stand and sang the national anthem while holding fingers aloft in the V sign. German SS troops stationed at Leikanger did not intervene.

NORSE GIRLS REFUSE TO DANCE WITH GERMANS;
67 PERSONS SENT TO CONCENTRATION CAMP

On the evening of July 26th, a dance was being held at the Bratholmen Youth Hostel in the neighborhood of Bergen says a report just received from Norway. About 200 young Norwegians were there enjoying themselves when in came four German soldiers who wanted to join in the festivities. But when not a single girl would dance with the Nazis, they tried to force some girls to accompany them out on the dance floor. At this the Norwegians promptly beat up the unwelcome intruders. Three were knocked unconscious but the fourth escaped and reported the affray at the military headquarter.

A detachment of German troops soon arrived at the youth hostel and arrested not only everyone inside the building but a large number of persons who were camping near-by. The hundreds of prisoners were then forced to march under armed guard to a playing field several miles distant and to spend the night there. On the following day 67 persons were sent to the concentration camp at Ulven, among them a 14-year old boy who had been asleep in a tent during the fracas at the youth hostel.

EVEN THE QUISLINGS ARE NOT CONTENT.....

The lack of food in Norway -- blamed by loyal Norwegians partly upon the thousand of German women sent to Norway for recreation and convalescence -- has aroused complaints even among Norwegian nazis. Free People, Quisling's party organ, recently printed the following letter from a reader:

"We women lack necessary food, -- except brown bread. Vegetables and berries go to those who have influence or to those who have strength to stand in line for a long time."
